DEDICATION

Christine Griffin

The 1995 Muster is dedicated to Christine Griffin. Ms. Griffin is a woman who has always been dedicated to Mass. Maritime and the Class of 1995 and we would like to return the favor to her.

Ms. Griffin started out with one of the first classes that contained women. She was to graduate with the Class of '82, but due to unforeseen obstacles, she was out for a year, but came back to earn her degree knowing she would never receive her U.S.C.G. engineering license.

After graduating, Ms. Griffin joined the Board of Trustees. She continued on to become the Chairperson of that organization and was instrumental in keeping Mass. Maritime as a functional and independent Academy.

When the Academy was abandoned by its fairly new president in 1993, Ms. Griffin volunteered her time as the interim president. This was extremely generous of her because at the same time she was working to earn her law degree. While she was acting as president, she did not just bide time. She made decisions and worked hard to improve the Academy. Our Class was in the middle of our stay here at Maritime while this was occurring. Ms. Griffin allowed us the stability and security we so desperately needed to complete our college years.

It is with pride and honor that we dedicate this book to Christine Griffin.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

This year the Senior Class decided to take up a vote on who's who in the class. A poll was taken outside of the mess deck for seniors only. A deckie and an engineer were chosen for each category. The following eleven areas were chosen by the class to bring out the best and the worst of all of our qualities and senses of humor. Not all were available for pictures.

Most likely to succeed:
Michelle Monroe & Todd Giardino

Class Slacker:
Matt Fallon & Mike Chapman

Rack Monsters:
Chris Wickman & Dan McCusker

Brown Noser:
KC Atwood & Tom Hickey

Best Hair:
PJ Leonard & Brian MacDonald

Best Attendance at MOFO:
Chris Hubbard & Jay Leach

Most Demos:
Matt Fallon & Chris Peterson

Most likely to come back and work at the Academy Store:
KC Atwood & Mark Robinson

Most likely to serve time:
Wil Kirkland & Scott Wilson

Should have gone Engine/ Deck:
Conrad Roy & Ried Heywood

Most likely to run aground/ lose the plant:
Wil Kirkland & Scott Wilson

Cutest Couple:
Michelle Monroe & KC Atwood
Rob Murphy & Scott Wilson

EDITOR'S NOTE TO THE CLASS OF 1995

Dear Class of 1995,

I would like to start by thanking you for all of the experiences you have given me over the last four years. I have changed into a new person during my years at Maritime. I knew not one of you upon entering, and no one knew the shy little bookworm standing in line at orientation, petrified of what was happening. I know most of you now, and I certainly wouldn't call me quiet any longer. Sometimes I think I learned a little too much about how 600 guys crammed into six dorms with nothing to do to find ways to amuse themselves. Some of the things you have taught me to see, I think I would have been fine not knowing, but all of the other experiences I consider priceless.

You have all prepared me for that place out there after Maritime. I had a smooth transition from year to year. Freshmen year is the year I call my "test." There were about 16 women in the class at the time. The big question everyone would ask me was "What are you doing here?" Then sophomore year was upon us and I think the number of women had fallen to about six or eight. I said good-bye to those girlfriends who I had believed were going to be those "best friends" you are supposed to find in college. This year my status had changed from "you shouldn't be here" to "will you help me with my mechanics?" Junior and senior year we were down to only four women in the class. I have always been amazed at how a place with so few women can have them be so distant from each other. I finally found those best friends I was looking for. They turned out to be my roomy, KC Atwood (who hated me at first sight!), and all of the guys who treated me like the kid sister they never wanted. You are the ones I will remember when I leave here.

It has been a long, hard road that we have traveled together, and I tried to put all that I could into this book for you. But, remember, no complaints are allowed if you don't like it because most of you didn't help me one bit with this book. This book represents my time and work, my staffs work, and the work of those willing to participate in their class. I owe a special thanks to those seniors who did give me their time.

To all of those who have actually read this note to the end, my time was not wasted on this nightmare project called the yearbook that most people think just appears on graduation day. I thank you for your time.

Best wishes to the Class of 1995!

RING DANCE 1994

You are cordially invited to attend the Class of 1995 Ring Dance
to be held
Saturday, the fifteenth of October
Nineteen Hundred Ninety Four cocktails and hors d'oeuveres at six-thirty
Dinner at eight P.M. Dancing until one A.M.

The Copley Plaza
Boston, Massachusetts

Cadets "Choker" Whites Guests Formal

This year's dance was a great success. Not only was the Copley Plaza beautiful and elegant, as were the Seniors in Dress Whites, but there was something different, something else. This year KC Atwood, the Senior Class president, decided to make some changes. The dance was held in the fall, rather than in the spring as it has been done in recent years. The timing was perfect. The class came together as a whole, and it really brought them close for the exciting year to come. The evening went smoothly, and it was excellent to see the large amount of support given by the faculty and staff who attended.

COMMENCEMENT 1995

The Class of 1995 graduated on a beautiful Maritime day at 1100 hours on June 17, 1995. To begin the day a brunch was held for the graduates and families. This helped to sustain all during a 2 hour and 10 minute ceremony.

The graduating cadets were welcomed to their seats by music from the MMA band. Many awards were presented to the seniors highlighting their four years of excellence. The keynote speaker, Admiral Loyd USCG, gave the class some important advice for the future. A first for graduation was the dual Valedictorian speakers Donald O'Dwyer and Michelle Monroe. The class address was given by Class President KC Atwood. A new tradition was started with the presenting of two Achievement Awards to Dr Charles Reynolds and LCDR Robert Brown. Two people the class felt did a lot for them. After a final dismissal by Regimental Commander Robert Murphy the Class of 1995 walked away proud Alumni of a proud Academy.

THE CLASS OF 1945 ... REMEMBERED

Fifty years ago a class graduated form the Massachusetts Maritime Academy, only the school was located on the shores of Hyannis Mass. Many of these graduated men were thrusted into a World War, where the out come could have been dramatically different had these men not acted in heroism. Most of these men have not been rewarded for their heroic acts aboard the many merchant ships. Today, we can honor them by saying Thank You, for life; liberty; and the sacrifices that you have made for this country.

THANK YOU, THANK YOU ALL OF YOU

" ... Having been appointed an officer in the United States Naval Reserve, I do solemnly swear (or Affirm) that I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter: so help me God."

Oath of Allegiance

"It is by no means enough that an officer of the navy should be a capable mariner. He must be that, of course, but also a great deal more. He should be as well a gentleman of liberal education, refined manners, punctilious courtesy and the nicest sense of personal honor."

John Paul Jones

THE FIRST TO DIE

I'm beginning to wonder who'll be here
When time travels on to another year,
To recall our "goldbrickin'," and the hell we caught,
And the lads whom we ate with, slept with, and fought.
Will all the boys of forty-two,
Still be alive when this year is through?
Will they all be back for the usual beer
At the same old tavern, this time next year?
Now everyone's full of the joys of life,
Away from the roars and the rumbles of strife,
But in a month or two, the same bunch of guys
Will be sailing in blackouts, 'neath war torn skies.
And if we're around at the end of this war,
We'll see soldiers and sailors with medals galore.
But we'll hear no word of the Merchant Marine,
Or the cries of the boys who were scalded by steam.
So while still alive, let's all drink a toast
To the land we love best, and the one we love most.
Then all you cadets, hold your glasses high,
And here's three cheers for the first to die!

"The First to Die," was written by Cadet James W. Schofield. Ironically, Cadet Schofield, Class of '42 was the first to die.

INVESTITURE

A sunny Friday in October set the tone for Dr. Peter M. Mitchell's investiture as the 26th President at Massachusettts Maritime Academy. The ceremony began with a beautiful musical prelude performed by the MMA band and a procession of distinguished guests. Dr. Gerald Concannon opened the greeting speeches which varied from State Representatives and Senators to our own President of the Student Government, Musa Pam. Dr. Mitchell was then sworn in to the position of President by Dr. Stanley Z. Koplik, Chancellor, Higher Education Coordinating Council, and given the honorary title of Rear Admiral USMS by Vice Admiral Albert J. Herberger. The ceremony closed with the President's Investiture address where he proposed his high hopes for his future here at the Academy.

1991 Orientation

The Class of '95 arrived at orientation on August 18, 1991. We were in for a lot more than we expected. Of course we "had it easier than ever before" and were the "worst class of slackers yet." The class came in with the storm. The evacuation for Hurricane Bob only made things worse. No electricity, no set schedules, and total frustration. We escaped any true four corners and hazing, but the upperclass still found plenty of ways to sternly get their point across. The discipline was still eminent. This class represented a new image for the Academy. New uniforms, a new admiral, new policies, and the largeness of the class were all improvements that would keep the academy in step with the rest of the world. Also, the school had a special inspection by Mr. Zachary Fisher. In the competitive events, 4th Company took the Admiral's Cup. 6th Company was awarded the Best Marching Group Award. The Trustees' Award was won by the spirituous 5th Company. The Commandant's Award was tied for by 2nd and 3rd Companies.

"Are you smokin' and jokin' in there?"

"Drop."

"You embarrassed me in front of my superiors!"

"Beat your face."

"Think soccer. 110% soccer."

"Don't eyeball me!"

"Six inches from the bulkhead."

ORIENTATION 1994

Orientation '94 started like any other, on a hot day in the middle of August. As the new youngies waited nervously outside the gym, the staff marched out and gave an oath to the parents led by Lt. Derrane.

This year's orientation was different than most. Many new ideas were implemented. Some worked, some didn't. The previous years' scramble provided many difficulties within staffs, and days such as the Student-Faculty Interaction Day caused interruptions in training. These days were enjoyed by the youngies, but not so well liked by the staff. This year's orientation did present one of the lowest attrition rates in recent years, so overall the changes were for the better.

This year's orientation awards were presented on the final Saturday at Orientation Graduation. The Admiral's Award was presented to 1st Company led by Christopher Chenette. 1st Company also won the award for the Best Marching Company. 5th Company, led by Paul Morris, took a close second and received the Commandant's Award. The award for the most spirited company, the Trustee's Award, went to 6th Company which was led by Michael Tremblay.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

This year the student government started off with a new look. In trying to tie the organization closer to the regiment, the S.G.A. President, Musa Pam, was given five bars and added to the regimental staff. The 1/C President, KC Atwood, was awarded four bars. This had its high points and its low points, but overall the student body was benefited. The S.G.A. had one major goal this year, improving the recreation rooms. This was accomplished on time and well done. Musa Pam placed Yung Kwon in charge of the committee. We now have fully functioning "Rec" rooms that include pool, popcorn, ping pong, foosball, air hockey, and movie rentals.

Honor Guard

The 1994-95 year brought about an increase in activity for the Regimental Honor Guard. Commanded by Tom Hickey with XO Tom Baer, Operations Officer Kerry Higgins, and squad leaders Keith Perry and Lars Whelan; the Honor Guard became more visible and took on more functions than in recent years. This past year also marked the revival of the Rifle Drill Team, commanded by Ed Vacha. This dedicated unit wowed the crowds with their rifle maneuvers at numerous parades and even at the Homecoming Game. From the Investiture to Graduation, this year's Honor Guard distinguished itself and kept this proud MMA tradition going strong.

Regimental Band

The Regimental Band was a small but dedicated group, led by Jim McGowan, XO Mike LaRocca, and most importantly Mr. Heywood. The band was one of most visible (and audible) representatives of the Academy. For the first time the band put on a Christmas concert and a Jazz concert. (And for those living on the 00 Deck of 5th Company Tuesday night concerts were an added bonus).

Sailing

Varsity Sailing under coach Tom Olsen and coach George Benway turned in an outstanding season, highlighted by a second consecutive MacMillan Cup Championship. The sailing program continues to improve, putting MMA in the intercollegiate sailing spotlight. With over thirty men and women actively contributing on the varsity roster, sailing is second only to football in terms of student athlete participation. Senior team members Will Donaldson, Ried Heywood, and Matt Wadsworth were strong contributors to the program. Ben Nguyen was singled out by the coaches for his dedication and individual effort this Fall. "The program could not achieve the success of the last two years without a committed effort from everyone on the roster" said assistant coach Benway. Tad Palmer, Eric Mino, Eric Simpson, Bill Ney and Jessalyn Wiley were key members of the team.

MARITIME CREW

This year was the crew club's first season and was considered a great success. The team hopes to be a varsity sport within the next couple of years, and with a young, enthusiastic membership the team shall achieve new heights in the future. The members of the club look forward to establishing the crew team as a new Maritime tradition. We would like to extend our thanks to Captain Gurnon and President Mitchell for all their support!

TRADITION

BUCCANEERS

Buc Football completed the 1994 season with a record of 4-6, 3-5 in New England Football Conference play. Tail back Flourney Hightower became only the second Academy player to eclipse the 1000 yard single season rushing mark, carrying the ball 211 times for 1183 yards. Senior co-captain Marc Liptak added 518 yards rushing for nine TDs and caught 20 passes for 233 yards and 2 TDs before an injury ended his season with two games left to play. Liptak was honored at seasons end as the 1994 Hal Chalmers Award winner, presented annually by the New England Football Conference to the top scholar/athlete in the nine team league. He completed his MMA career as the second leading scorer in Academy history with 28 TDs and 168 points. Also garnering post season honors were Junior Paul Diamantopoulos, who was named as both an ECAC and NEFC first team all star for his defensive line play. Paul led all Buc defenders with 118 tackles and 17.5 sacks; Junior Boyd Hobson connected on 7 of 8 field goal attempts and scored 35 points and was also named to the ECAC and NEFC first team. Senior guard Russ Garland, a 1994 co-captain, was tabbed as a second team ECAC and NEFC all star.

DETERMINATION

BUCCANEERS

The MMA soccer team managed only four wins in 20 starts, but a roster dominated by freshmen and sophomores leaves hope for better things to come in the near future. The top three scorers in 1994 were all freshmen. Juan Perez (14 points), Tom Mochen (10 points) and Marcus Monteiro (10 points) all have three remaining years of varsity soccer and should backbone the rebuilding process. Sophomore Matt Dam had an outstanding season for second year coach Greg Perry.

"BUC" BALL

LADY BUCCANEERS

Buccaneer Volleyball completed the 1994 Season with a record of 6-11. The Lady Bucs were highly competitive throughout, and reached a milestone with their first ever State College Conference victory, a 3-0 decision over Framingham State. Junior Nicole Ash was named to the Mass. State College Conference First Team All Star Team. Ash is only the second Academy Athlete to be so honored in volleyball. Senior KC Atwood and sophomores Amanda Tucker and Katie McMaster played exceptionally well for head coach Steve Flanders.

MEN'S BASEBALL

PERSEVERANCE

BUCCANEERS

For the first time since 1985, the MMA Baseball Team reached the .500 mark for the season finishing 14-14. The season was one of streaks, both winning and losing, led by seniors John Cosmopoulos, Greg Miller, and Roger Morneau. The .500 season was due to the offensive play of Jeff Antman (.356), and the solid pitching by Joe Caproni (ERA 1.61). A major key to the Buccaneer success was the Spring Training in Ft. Lauderdale, FL. The future looks bright for the Buccaneers.

ATTITUDE

LADY BUCCANEERS

The 1995 Lady Bucaneer Softball Team was led by Captains KC Atwood and Marina Gaglias. The 1995 season proved to be the winningest ever in Lady Buc history. Outstanding pitching by Jen Jones and impressive hitting by Nici Ash (.407) were the keys to the Lady Buc's success. The infield play of Katie McMaster at shortstop is what kept the team in many games. The 1995 Squad only graduated one senior KC Atwood and the future looks bright for the young team.

MEN'S LACROSSE

TENACITY

BUCCANEERS

The 1995 Lacrosse season was a rebuilding year for the Buccaneers as they followed a record breaking season in 1994 of a team that went 10-3 with a winning percent of .769. This year's squad was led by Dave Joyce who was named to the East/ West College All Star Team. In 11 games, Joyce scored 12 goals and had 13 assists. Also leading the 1995 Lacrosse Team were Brian Doucette scoring 26 goals and senior goalie Dan McCusker. The 1995 record of 3-8 doesn't reflect the tenacity of the team and the 1996 season should reflect their ability.

Cross Country

Men's and Women's Cross Country enjoyed a busy and productive season under coach Paul Innis (men) and coach Andrea Kershaw (women). Junior Dan Bonin led the men's team, and sophomore Liliana Dias, in her first season of intercollegiate competition, was consistently the top finisher for the women. Dias finished ninth in the State College Conference Championship meet, narrowly missing a spot on the All Conference team. Bonin led the men at the Conference Championships, finishing first for MMA and tenth overall. Marisol Chalas, Megan Kelly, Amy Mullen, and Elizabeth Jones were all strong contributors to the women's team. Seniors Will Clark and Matt Sears, along with juniors Kyle Farrell and John Kelly and freshmen Eric Boisvert, Ted Flynn, and Jason Woodbury were the backbone of the men's team.

This year the T.S.P.S. set sail as the "Flagship of Massachusetts' Economic Development," and the Regiment went along as well. The first disappointment was the loss of the warm port of Tenerife in the Canary Islands, which resulted in a sixteen day stretch at sea and an anchoring at the bay of Gibralter.

Once we got to port, the trip improved. Admiral Cressy joined us in Italy and stayed until Spain. Due to every cadet's favorite trade show and the Admiral's contacts, many extra trips were provided. Italy was full of travel to Pompei, Rome — to see the Pope — and Mt. Vesuvius. Barcelona was a beautiful city with lots of Olympic sites to be seen and some really great bands playing in the subway. Lisbon was our last chance to go out on the town, so many lived up this port to the fullest extent, aided slightly by the fact that it was also the cheapest.

WORKED LIKED DOGS '92

Vera Cruz, Mexico
Bridgetown, Barbados
San Juan, Puerto Rico
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Cruise '92 proved to be a good time. This was the first year that we could put the new "Splinter Beach" to use.

Our first port of Vera Cruz was an experience new to most cadets. There were hammock peddlers everywhere and you could even pay to be shocked (literally!).

Next, we traveled to Barbados. With the beach party and the steel drum band, this port was a favorite of most.

For our third port, we entered Puerto Rico. This was especially enjoyable due to the U.S. currency. Also, San Juan is quite well known for it's night life.

The final port was Ft. Lauderdale. Most cadets stayed on the strip, while many others traveled to Disney World or to the Keys.

Even though it was a great time, all cadets were happy to see good old B'Bay again.

W.A.F.W.O.T. '94

Dublin, Ireland
Amsterdam, Netherlands
Edinburgh, Scotland

Sea Term 1994 has many memorable things about it. The first is the most obvious, it was in the spring. The spring weather allowed the T.S.P.S. the opportunity to head to Northern Europe. Crossing the "BIG POND" was an experience. The Crate rolled like a pig in the rough Northern Atlantic waters. One memorable night no one got any sleep because we were rolling so bad. That night the Captain fell out of the rack and the copier in ComCad took a "diga."

Once we survived making the trip across, we were on to the first port of Dublin, Ireland. The Guinness Brewery was the hot spot where most of the cadets were found. Other notable attractions were Trinity College, St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the day of restriction on the ship due to a redecorating idea of a particular cadet.

The next port was Amsterdam. This will always be remembered as the port where anything goes. Most cadets saw things that they will never forget. Major sight-seeing attractions were the Van Gogh Museum, Ann Frank House, the Red Light District and other notable museums.

Our last port of call was Edinburgh, Scotland. The Castle with the cannon pointing directly at our ship was the most noticeable land mark. This was another major port for taking in the sights.

The trip home was not nearly as rough as the trip across. We were all surprised to find spring waiting for us back in Buzzards Bay. Cruise 1994 offered quite a bit for everyone, but still the cruise nickname of W.A.F.W.O.T. was quite fitting for the time spent underway.

COMMERCIAL SHIPPING '94

This year we were faced with a spring cruise. This meant that we would be competing for ships with the other academies. Captain Wilson came through for us though and all eligible cadets were able to find a ship.

The experience was a learning one, not only about the job, but also about the industry. Many cadets found out what it was like to work in the real world. This experience helped many decide if shipping was really for them.

Overall, it was an excellent time for all involved, even with the dreaded Sea Project in mind.

PORTS OF CALL:

THE WORLD

S.A.B.A. A.F.I. '95

Bridgetown, Barbados
Williamstad, Curacao
St. John, U.S.V.I.
Ft. Lauderdale, Florida

Cruise '95 proved that in any plan there has to be room for flexibility and improvisation. The first change came when Fortaleza, Brazil fell through as one of the ports of call. After an uneventful start, it might have seemed that all else would go as planned.

Our first land sighted after the long southward trek through the Atlantic was the lovely island of St. Lucia. In case anyone missed it, the TSPS generously circled the area providing ample opportunity for sight-seeing.

Our first port was Bridgetown on the Island of Barbados home of Mount Gay Rum, beautiful beaches, extremely small cars, and livestock by the side of the road.

Next, the much anticipated equator crossing, which almost went off without a hitch. Unfortunately rough seas nixed plans to dunk polliwogs into the ocean and insteed of rowing just a monomoy across the equator we "rowed" the TSPS across.

Our second stop was the port of Williamstad, Curacao. This dry island, where they make their own weter (and Amstel Beer) provided a little something for everyone in its sights, beaches, Casinos and night life.

Next stop, was the unplanned anchoring off St. John, USVI. Paradise. What more needs to be said?

Our final stop before home was Ft. Lauderdale, Florida where it was just plain good to be beck in the states. For those willing to make the four hour trip, Disney World was an option. For all those not interested in visiting the big rat, the great weather and Ft. Lauderdale area afforded plenty to do.

If nothing else, Cruise '95 provided a great opportunity to get a tan, and to just get away from the harsh New England winter.

SHELLBACK 1995

Where else but at MMA can you wait in a tremendously long line with a couple hundred of your not-so-close friends just so you can be put through a disgusting series of ordeals?

Shellback '95, slimy and messy as it was, was a unique experience that all of us will remember forever. Who could forget the arrival of Davy Jones (AKA Capt. Bushy) amid flares, fire hoses and flying fish? Or how about locking lips with the dolphin fish, surely an exciting experience for some of the more deprived polliwogs. From the lovely PFM prepared breakfast of dolphin innards and sea snot to slithering around the ship on our bellies, Shellback will always be an event we can look back on and laugh, as well as breathe a sigh of relief that it's over with.

I think that I shall never see
A sight so ugly as the sea . . .
The sea whose motions make me sick,
Whose weedy spray I had to lick . . .
Whose mocking wave crests seem to say,
"Don't you feel well? Won't you play?"
The sea which tossed me like a leaf
To winds of woe for further grief . . .
And so I laugh at signs I see,
Which read, "You bet I'm going back to sea!"

Karie,
It all started with kindergarten — you've always had a love for school and all of those extra camps. High School turned you into a young mature girl. When came MMA. After 5 weeks or so, you wanted out, we told you it was your choice. You stayed, you worked hard, and you achieved. — 3 weeks before graduation you called, you teasingly said "I want to quit." We said no way! You made it! We're all really proud of you. You have a great future ahead of you, and no matter where you go or what you do, we'll always love you.
Love, Dad, Mom, Tonya, Steve, Sean, your little nephew dude Casey, Gram and your Grampa Harold who's missed by all.

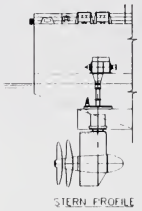
BEST AVAILABLE TECHNOLOGY
SAFETY TANKERS

Safety and economy of tank vessels can be markedly improved by the use of new-generation twin-screw steerable propulsion. The application of Z-drive technology to double hull tank vessels (making them "Safety Tankers") significantly enhances steering capabilities at all speeds, and eliminates the need for escort tugs.



Fuel efficiency is substantially increased if the Z-drive is fitted with contra-rotating propellers. Additionally, construction costs are reduced by the use of a simplified hullform aft. The Safety Tanker's shorter engine room length can either reduce the length of the vessel or increase the available cargo volume.

Now I don't need a harp nor a halo not me
Just give me a breeze and a high rolling sea
And I'll play my old squeeze box as we sail along
With the wind in the rigging to sing me a song.

Love and thanks Mom, Dad, Bridget, Scott, John, Denise, Ann, Mary, Martin, Maureen and Janice. I love you all and I appreciate your support over the past 4 years. Good luck and God bless Tom, Ned, Ken, Brian, Ernesto.

David Hutchinson

The secret to success at Mass Maritime Academy is simply to make the decision to serve it rather than be served by it. Additionally, serve it with no expectations of reward. Let the Academy itself be the reward. If a cadet can truly inculcate that philosophy into his character, he is not going to have to be concerned with the rewards, as they will come unsolicited, that I guarantee. It has to be a deeply felt conviction and must be constant and always sincere. That one fact is the difference between the happy cadet and the disgruntled; the successful one and the failure: the one who leads and those who are content to sit back and follow.
